

IF I DIE TONIGHT

2003 © 2022 Roger Lienke

Verse 1

If I die tonight – it will be all right
Because I know that I am going home
You have come to me and you have set me free
Now I will never be alone
The wonder of my life – I'll always own

Chorus

The moon may block the sun
Stars may disappear
But like an endless summer
You will still be here

Verse 2

On the wings of prayer – you will take me there
And you will show me where I come from
I have been released and I will know your peace
Your tender mercy has become
In the equation of my life – the final sum

Chorus

The moon may block the sun
Stars may disappear
But like an endless summer
You will still be here
